Don Juan J. Trujillo —

Socorro, N. M.

Querido Amigo:

Recibi su carta y en el Socorro le diré lo que ha pasado — Ahora le pido que le muestre todo lo que él me da con los juzgados para las mas de las causas que yo tengo — tituladas como Mr. Lewis vs. Louis Hunting — y J. M. Barba vs. C. H. Kirkpatrick — Ademas — Aquí tenemos una parte de ladrones demócratas, que han estado robando al Condado y al Territorio haciendo justicieros falsos de su propiedad sujetos a los mismos — Uno de estos es P. Placido Romero, y ha pedido Cambio de lugar al Socorro — bajo la pretensión de que quiere ser juzgado mas pronto — De lo que depende es de su amistad con Don Juan José Baca y Candelaria García y otros — Quiero que se vaya a estos juzgados y que nos ayude a hacer a este pijo, ladrón — traidor — Quiere a donde pertenece, que es la penitencia — Gracias — Le encargo muchísimo a mis padres — Abuelos también que en ellos depende mucho, y a don Luis M. Baca — En fin a todos los amigos — Varios contados solo abusos — Ahora vienen los de buena fe — pagan la taza — así, los ladrones de caballos y los asesinos — pugnan por escapar — Desandole columnas de felicidades — Oy su frío amigo —

Los Lunas, N. M., April 16, 1890.
Dear Sirs— I received your letter and will tell you in Socorro what has happened. Now, I will ask and implore you to do everything you can with the Juries for two cases which I have in court, entitled Carlos W. Lewis vs. Louis Hunting and J. M. Barba vs. C. H. Kirkpatrick. Besides, we have a gang of thieving Democrats who have been robbing the county and Territory, making false oaths of their property subject to taxation. One of these is J. Placido Romero, and he has taken charge of venue to Socorro, under the pretense that he wishes to be tried sooner. What he depends on is his friendship with Don Luis M. Baca. In fact, all our friends. Let us cut off these abuses. Now only those of good faith pay the taxes; the horse thieves, scoundrels and perjurers escape. Wishing you much happiness.

I am your faithful friend, etc.,

Paralysis Cured.
Not even the spinal cord, increased though it is in its thick bony envelope, is sacred to the surgeon's knife. A boy 9 years of age was admitted recently to the Mount Sinai hospital suffering from a complete paralysis of his lower extremities and the lower half of the body. This condition had developed very suddenly. On arising from bed he had one movement; he found himself unable to stand or to use his legs. He had sustained no injury, his general health was fair. On examination it was found that he had a marked prominence over the spine in the upper portion, giving rise to a curvature such as is commonly seen in imbeciles, and which is the result of an inflammatory disease affecting the vertebrae, known as Pott's disease.

The spinal cord is a dependency of the brain, still really is its continuation, and lies within a bony canal formed by the rays of the spine. The nerves issuing in it govern the power of motion and action of those parts of the body to which they are distributed, and any irritation with them destroys their function and analysis more or less complete and although sometimes may be removed, the sensor nerves are given over a different portion of the cord, in this physiological fact it was at once evident that the boy's paralytic fits of some pressure upon the roots made every nerve reverting to the lower part of the spinal cord.

"My stars!" Uncle Enoch was heard to whisper confidentially after the first "chord passage," "he struck them notes so hard they touched him clean off his seat!" — Exchange.

"Strapping Horses to Sticks." A new kind of swindling or of horse stealing is reported by The Kennedy Journal. While Mr. Charles F. Thaxter, of South Gardner, was at work a stranger called at his house and told Mrs. Thaxter that her husband had sent him to swap horses and that she was to pay him $10 to boot, and that he would leave his horse. Mrs. Thaxter carried out the instructions and received in exchange a white horse which has since proved utterly worthless. Mr. Thaxter's horse was a handsome and valuable red bay.

The First Sewing Machine.
If we dream how badly we get impressed numbers of history mixed. As any well informed person who invented sewing machine and the ready will be like this, which is the true from the truth in the case. The first sewing machine invented in England by Thomas Heath in 1790, forty years before Brown & Green, the father of old machine to invent an evolution in the Royal Agricultural Hall, Wellington, England.

OUR FLAG ABROAD.

"Here, for the first time since leaving New York, I saw the Stars and Stripes. It was floating over the gateway to the American consulate. It is a strange fact that the further one goes from some the more loyal one becomes. I felt that I was a long ways off from my own dear land; it was Christmas day, and I had seen many different days since last I gazed upon our own. The moment I saw it floating there in the soft,azy breeze I took off my cap and said: 'That is the most beautiful flag in the world, and I am ready to whip any one who says it isn't.'

No one said a word. Everybody was afraid. I saw an Englishman in the party glance furtively toward the Union Jack, which was floating over the English consulate, but in a hesitating manner, as if he feared to let loose." — Nellie May's Book.

Gymnastics. Uncle Enoch, from Oldshore, was visiting his daughter in New York, and one evening she took him to a concert at which Sig. Itangelli was to play a piano solo.

The signor has a peculiar way of playing chords. After each one he gives a sort of spring into the air, which enables him to attack the next one with great vigor.

"My stars!" Uncle Enoch was heard to whisper confidentially after the first "chord passage," "he struck them notes so hard they touched him clean off his seat!" — Exchange.

Wanted the Job. Woman—I want this room whitewashed, but I dread the mess of it all.

Uncle Fatty—Gonna you've had sum ob deas hars cheap whitewashable at wuk. Ise very "sticke, m'nam. Ise whitewashed em ob de best fences in de city. Whitewash am too 'spensive ter spill 'roum on furniture.—Epoch.
